

Bank Manager Withholds $1,800,000 Credit for Calgary Civic Purposes

MONEY ONLY IN TEMPORARY
STRESS, GRANT

Arrangement Marks Elimination Possible Closing of Operations

CALGARY, Jan. 6.—Temporary credit to maintain city services was obtained by the city of Calgary, Alberta, yesterday and late last night negotiations were still underway with the bank to add the city in its financial crisis.

Deputy Mayor Andy Davison and H. C. Francis, local manager of the Bank of Montreal, last night signed a credit agreement providing only sufficient funds to meet the maturing obligations of the city. The arrangement, which had reached such a stage that hope of finding the immediate regarding the definite amount of credit was high.

DENIES BIG CREDIT

Mr. Francis denied his letter earlier in the day that the bank had established a line of credit amounting to $1,800,000, although the amount was mentioned in the letter. Mayor Davison has called a meeting of the finance committee to be held this evening to determine the city's immediate credit requirements will be drawn up and submitted to the bank.

Guarantees of the temporary credit arrangement, however, possibly of civic operations being forced to end, as a result of an emergency, have been given. The repayments continued heavy again Thursday, the amount of which was $235,074 for the current month, compared with $233,074 for the corresponding month last year.

SITUATION CLOSED

Until the finance committee meets today, exact status of situation between the city and the bank will be known. The Bank of Montreal to pay $300,000 in advances under the credit agreement, and $1,500,000 over $2,000,000 in debenture payments brought about the dispute, which was being made in Canadian funds only.

Based on the negotiations, and a "gentleman's agreement" it would not be attached, the city remained dependent on the bank to pay its expenses. Preliminary arrangements were made to continue city operations unless the bank credits were provided. The proposed emergency legislation, offence against lack of credit and currency, was temporarily shelved without a vote.

In his statement last night, Mr. Francis denied:

"Our position on special credit remains the same. Now the city has to pay its debts and we are granting it on a temporary basis. We want to prevent shutdowns, but we have no public services in the meantime."

Mayor Davison was advised during the negotiations that the following maturity of the $2,000,000 debenture issue had resulted in only $300,000 in advances being paid out in Canada. In New York, $500,000 had been presented and returned to the bank, and the remaining $1,500,000 would be paid by the city. Twenty-two thousand dollars' worth were cashed at New York.

Export Trade In

Cattle Opens Up

TORONTO, Jan. 6.—Export trade in cattle with Great Britain appears to be picking up at the first of the year as anticipated, according to a statement issued by Mr. E. Mayher, Toronto export.

Prices have advanced somewhat on British markets, and the value of the booking is taken as a favorable indication of the volume of trade.

Space on Liverpool steamers has been pretty well booked by English dealers, and the market is active. Only one sailing is scheduled for Glasgow January 6, but Mr. Mayher said that a second sailing might space has been reserved in shipper's hands.

MURDER CASE

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE

veteran smoker. Therefore, the fire occasioned no great surprise.

THEN COMES SURPRISE

A surprise came, however, as the rounds were taken. It was found that the dead man had been shot three times in such a manner that it was believed he had not been self-inflicted.

Furnace was in the British forces during the war, and before the treaty which established the Free State, and the police began to wonder if the dead man had been murdered for vengeance.

More information was reported to police of William Conroy, a 25-year-old rent collector who had been a member of the London and was a friend of Furnace.

IDENTIFY SPATCHETT

Spatchett's father, another relative and two friends were taken to the mortuary to identify the body of the murdered man and positively identify it as Spatchett.

They were assisted by laundry marks on the remnants of a clothes bag which had been packed in a book which would have been destroyed but had the flame contained a few moments.

The police were finally convinced that the dead man was Spatchett. Now he is identified and to the world and to the body of the murdered man and positively identified it as Spatchett.

There was no assistance by laundry marks on the remnants of a clothes bag which had been packed in a book which would have been destroyed but had the flame contained a few moments.

PROBE COAL PRICE

MONTRAL, Jan. 6.—The investigation being conducted by the dominion labour department, labour and the price of British anthracite coal in Canada is under way again. The hearing is going on behind closed doors.

Sues For Million

Mrs. Ada Lee Kinard, society leader of Kansas City, Mo., who recently divorced her husband, Dr. Kerwin W. Kinard, a prominent physician, so that he could marry Mrs. Gail Stephens, Detroit radio personality, has brought suit for $1,000,000 against Mrs. Stephens, now Dr. Kinard's second wife, charging alienation of affection. The first Mrs. Kinard accuses her rival of stealing the doctor's love by reviving memories of their youthful romance after a chance meeting of the couple two years ago in Detroit. Dr. Kinard and the former Mrs. Stephens, now his wife, are in court.

LIBERALS IN MUNDARE HOLD
BIG MEETING

Provincial Leader Attacks Brownlee Re- cord

MUNDARE, Jan. 6.—Pointing out that more than fifty cents of every dollar collected by the province of Alberta last year was spent in debt carrying charges, and that for every dollar spent in debt carrying charges, the province had to advance that industry eight dollars went for debt carrying charges, the Alberta Liberal leader, Mr. W. E. Sutherland, charged the Brownlee government for excessive waste and unnecessary spending.

The meeting, one of the largest held in the province, was addressed by L. A. Givoux, M.L.A., Charles G. Groulx, M.L.A., and S. M. MacLean, M.L.A., and Dr. Prime Minister.

In his address the Liberal leader charged that in the past two and one-half years the public debt of Alberta had increased from $100,000,000, which is of unnecessary adding to the tax burden of the province, and that the province had dealt extensively with the debtor and creditor problem, and stated that the Alberta Unemployment Adjustment Act was only fitting with the other provinces.

"Inspector Sutherland," said Mr. Groulx, "M.L.A., for Groulx, played industrial monopolies, and brought them into Sutherland's office."

"Who told them to come along?"

"And you are a police officer?"

"Yes."

"What did you do with them?"

"I turned them over to uniformed police."

"What did they do?"

"We returned to the city police station."

"Inspector Sutherland, Supt. Hancock and myself brought them into Sutherland's office and myself."

"I don't know under arrest?"

"No. They were free to go if they wanted to."

"What did you do with them?"

"Sup. Hancock."

"How many were arrested?"

"None. They were sent out of Inspector Sutherland's office and warrants were made out for their arrest."

"How many arrested on warrants at the city temple?"

"None. They were sent back to Supt. Hancock."

"Did you lay in information?"

"No. I can't say."

SIX DISMISSED

Accused were charged and prosecutor Charles Becker rose to ask withdrawal of charges against six of the alleged ring leaders. James Keay, and Mrs. Jennie Lewellen, were found guilty of perjury.

Pointing out that the proposed legislation was like trying to mix fire and water, he declared that the politicians were endeavoring by this unless to hoodwink the farmer, and that the proposed legislation in order to secure political power to enable them "to secure a safe, peaceful and prosperous life."

The Groulx member also attacked the Brownlee government for its extravagance in maintaining the debt and bankruptcy by increasing taxation to take care of its unjustified expenditure.

Pointing out that the proposed legislation was like trying to mix fire and water, he declared that the politicians were endeavoring by this unless to hoodwink the farmer, and that the proposed legislation in order to secure political power to enable them "to secure a safe, peaceful and prosperous life."

The broadcast was received by the forces of Communism when the time came.

MORE ABOUT "HUNGER ARMY"

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE

member of Britain's Scotland Yard, identified, one by one, 12 of the 20 accused as being active members in the Communist party.

Keeler, a police officer, managing as a capitalist-taking control of the annual conference of Rotary district No. 4 which will be held in Britain, charged that the proposed legislation was made to this effect this morning.

Chief of Police Fred Dunn of Moose Jaw, District No. 4, comprising clubs in Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Alberta and Western Ontario, from the Market Square to the legislative buildings.

"I know where there would be trouble," testified this witness. "Foreigners from the U.S. and Canada, and the Chinese, would be here to help the Communists. They would be here to help the Communists when the time came.

MORE ABOUT
"WORLD CHIEFS"

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE

member of Britain's Scotland Yard, identified, one by one, 12 of the 20 accused as being active members in the Communist party.

Keeler, a police officer, managing as a capitalist-taking control of the annual conference of Rotary district No. 4 which will be held in Britain, charged that the proposed legislation was made to this effect this morning.

Chief of Police Fred Dunn of Moose Jaw, District No. 4, comprising clubs in Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Alberta and Western Ontario, from the Market Square to the legislative buildings.

"I know where there would be trouble," testified this witness. "Foreigners from the U.S. and Canada, and the Chinese, would be here to help the Communists. They would be here to help the Communists when the time came.

GATHERED EVIDENCE

October 21, 1932 found him in the Canadian party organization, until May 12, 1933.

He was then gathered evidence to support the Canadian party's contention that the League of Nations' "effective measures to check the spread of world hunger" were not being carried out.

The "Red" party's demand to place responsibility for the Shandian famine on the League of Nations, the Japanese had placed themselves in opposition to the League.

The government charged that the Japanese had placed themselves in opposition to the League of Nations.

Mr. Conroy, a member of the Canadian party, was a friend of Furnace.

He was a friend of Furnace.

</div

Free State and North Irish Union is Demanded

—And The Battle Rages Again

CONSOLIDATION OF 2 FACTS IS CONSIDERED

Partisans Fear His Stand May Split Ranks of Anti-Valera

By JOSEPH DENNIGAN
Canadian Press Correspondent

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Jan. 6.—Politicians here are split last night when Richard Mulroney, former minister of defence and front bench member of William T. Cosgrave's Cumann na nGaedheal, voiced a demand immediate union of the Free State and northern Ireland.

The only alternative to union, Mr. Mulroney said, was a 26-county republic and civil war.

In his speech, he blamed Great Britain for partition of Ireland and rejected the oath of allegiance to the King.

Partisans expressed the fear his stand would split the ranks of Cosgrave's party and give added strength to President Eamon De Valera, who has been in the whirlwind campaign for the 24, polling day.

TOO MUCH RESPECT

"Too much respect for British sentiment," Mr. Mulroney said, "has made the 1921 treaty under which the Free State was constituted unacceptable by including in it of the oath of allegiance and by a long struggle to keep it legal, though it was the privy council."

The only alternative to a 26-county republic and endless ill-will is union of Ireland."

He urged withdrawal of Nationalist members from the parliament of Ireland and the formation of an office in London to conduct propaganda seeking to force the North into union.

COGRAN ENTERS DENIAL

Mr. Cosgrave issued a vigorous denial that his party was receiving financial assistance from the United Kingdom in its effort to win the election.

The Cumann na nGaedheal leader's statement was prompted by an article in a New York American newspaper that "British is intriguing to get Mr. Cosgrave back into the political arena" and that his second in the campaign, Mr. Cosgrave, "undertook to restore President De Valera to power when he was returned to power."

"I am not surprised," he declared, "when it is possible for a government with even less experience to be more successful in getting back the market to the farmer to secure better prices for cattle than the one that has three days."

ONLY MAKE APPROPRIATE

Vice President Sean O'Casey, who headed the Free State delegation to the Ottawa economic conference, said he had no objection to the demands addressed to a minister of state.

What he said in Ottawa, Mr. O'Casey said, came from one of the members of the delegation in the Free State and shortly afterwards he met a British cabinet minister, who, in a friendly manner, rubbing his hands at what he regarded as a prospect of civil war in the Free State.

He quoted the cabinet minister, whom he did not name, as saying: "You will be asked to make war with you fellow, because your own people will do it."

Every word of the Cosgrave party would be a vote for the P.D. in the election.

The demonstration broke up with the crowd singing: "We will crown the King of England," a republican election diry.

WHOLESALES PRICES LOWER

OTTAWA, Jan. 6.—The dominion board of statistics index number of wheat prices in the 1932 equals 100, and have gone down from $4.6 in November, to $4.0 in December, and $3.8 in January. Wheat, higher, 111 were lower, while 94 remained unchanged.

STOMACH ULCERS

Four out of five people have said stomach whether it is not or about one out of seven with acid stomach. You can't get rid of acid stomach. When you have too much acid in the stomach, you get a burning, gas, giddiness and a droopy feeling. Eat a light meal, eat small, meat-free, low-carbohydrate diet.

Any drug will tell you simple stomach, but it won't help acid stomach and heat stomach ulcers. Gas in the stomach is a result of acid stomach and diarrhea—all signs of excessive acid stomach. You can't suffer by high doses of Magna today. The acid from stomach, acid indigestion or heartburn, is a result of the high doses of Magna today. Big packages, small cost. Not a treat.

Change in Train Service Effective Jan. 9th, 1933

between
Edmonton and Jasper

12.30 p.m. At 3.30 p.m.
8.30 p.m. At 9.30 p.m.
7.15 a.m. At 8.15 a.m.
Mon. Tues. Thurs. Sat. Sun. Wed. Fri.

For further particulars, consult
Our Travel Agent, 1015 10th Street, Edmonton, Alta. Tel. 2311-2807.

Canadian National

Here are the two great figures in Irish politics who is now bubbling with scalding heat over the length and breadth of the Free State. De Valera, left, the tall, lanky statesman-president opens his campaign against the policies of his open rival, W. T. Cosgrave, right. Again De Valera asserts revocation of the oath of allegiance will become a law.

20,000 WATCH VALERA OPEN HIS CAMPAIGN

Largest Crowd Ever to Gather Hears Him Level on Cosgrave

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Jan. 6.—President Eamon De Valera opened his general election campaign last night to the resounding cheering of 20,000 persons gathered on Collegiate Green.

Before the largest crowd ever gathered to hear this tall, lanky statesman-president speak, Mr. De Valera leveled his biggest election gun at former President William T. Cosgrave, the Cumann na nGaedheal.

He asserted a vote for the Cosgrave party would be a vote for Britain.

The British want Cosgrave and the Cumann na nGaedheal back for one reason only. That they might hold them in their hands and squeeze them as they want," the Free State president said.

Mr. De Valera repeated that the Irish would support the bill revoking the oath of allegiance to the King. He asserted that if the government is returned to power, this bill already introduced by the Dail Fianna will have been rejected by the Senate.

called him to the hunting grounds of his ancestors.

By DON KIRKLEY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—American voters are asked to support a grieved-stricken United States capital today as it mounted Calvin Coolidge's body to the top of Mount Adams, shocked the White House, the congress and the citizen in the street.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

While expressions of mourning came from all over the world, plans were laid to a funeral service despite the lack of preparation features, will be a notable one in U.S. history.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

With an endless stream of condolers, the body of the 33rd president of the United States was carried to the capital to Northampton. Mr. Hoover dispatched his own, and the military sides there to give what they could in making funeral arrangements. The public, too, made plans to attend the funeral.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

With five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New England funeral of the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five minutes after word of his death reached the capital, flags on government buildings and the capitol were hauled to half-mast. The public, too, made plans to attend the quiet New Englander under whose watch many served and whom all revered.

President Herbert Hoover led the homage to his predecessor, issuing a proclamation that was read with expressions of peace on his behalf.

Within five

"Let the peace of God rule in your hearts." —Col. 3:13.

Today's text is suggested by Major H. C. Halvick, Salvation Army, Edmonton.

Edmonton Bulletin

EDMONTON'S OWN NEWSPAPER
Founded in 1890 by Mr. Frank Oliver

The Bulletin is the only Edmonton Newspaper
Owned, Controlled and Operated by Local Men

Published every afternoon, except Sunday, by the Alberta News, Limited, at the Royal Building,
1851-905 Jasper Avenue, East, Edmonton,
Alberta Canada.

CHARLES C. CAMPBELL
General Manager and Publisher.

Subscription Price—By mail (in advance) per year, in Canada, $3.00; United States, $7.00;
Great Britain, 15 cents or $7.00 per year;
Telephones 2012.

Advertising Representatives:

VANCOUVER: R. C. P. P. Co., 610-620 West Pender, Vancouver, B.C.

TORONTO: ONTARIO—F. W. Thomson, 718 Wellington Building.

MONTREAL: QUEBEC—W. J. Crowley, 210 St. James Street, W., Phone Harbour 7220.

UNITED STATES—The Beckwith Special Agency, Inc., New York City Building, New York City; Chicago, 100 N. Dearborn Street; Syndicate Trust Building, St. Louis; Interstate Building, Kansas City; Willowbrook Town Building, Chicago; 1499 G.W. Building, Atlanta; First Building, San Francisco; 113 No. 6505 Street, Philadelphia.

London, England—The Clougher Corporation Limited, Royal Colonial Chamber, 20 Craven Street.

The Audit Bureau of Circulation audits the circulation books of the Edmonton Bulletin.

IF IT WILL HELP ALBERTA THE EDMONTON BULLETIN IS FOR IT

FRIDAY, JANUARY 6

THE HERESY SPREADS

Leaders in the United States Senate are urging strongly that the republican cheaps its dollar and get back into world trade. Mr. Roosevelt said something that was taken to mean the same thing, during his campaign for the presidency.

The U.S. dollar dropped in value on Wednesday, following the speeches in the Senate at Washington. Chicago apparently acted action, too, as Chicago buyers invaded Winnipeg on Wednesday and bid up wheat.

On Thursday, more quickly France and Premier Bennett may find themselves the sole surviving champions of the gold standard and stagnation.

STILL DELUDING THEMSELVES

The good ones that would like to promote the exchange of Canadian cattle for Russian oil are composed of optimists. They are still sticking around Ottawa, trying to coax the Government to let them trade with Moscow.

But that is not all they want, by a good deal. They want to get into the oil business themselves to start the business. And they modestly suggest that the Government also guarantee them against loss should the Soviet fail to keep its contract.

The gentlemen are wasting their time in doing this. If they want to do business, they must understand. Soviet contracts and putting up $4,000,000 on the strength of his faith that the contracts will be kept, they have imaginations that would make fortunes for novices.

Lordosis—The Balkan allies have presented Turkey with an ultimatum and threaten to break off relations if Turkey does not consent to the sending of Adm. G. G. C. C. Webster, the president of the Canadian Historical Association. Webster's mother was Henrietta Dawson was visited by a $50,000 fire.

That evidently is the view taken in Mukden, the capital of Manchuria, under Japanese control. A despatch from that city explains that the Japanese have completed a drive through eastern Manchuria, established their authority there, and thus released the Chinese masses of that province from an "autocratic" campaign in the province of Jehol.

Shanhaikwan, it is further explained, is the key to that Chinese province, and the strategic point from which an invasion of the interior can be launched with the least trouble and expense.

This despatch, if not penned by a Japanese representative, was allowed to reach the outer world by the Japanese censor. The inference is that the Japanese now realize why they cannot longer attempt to disguise the fact that it is engaged in a war of conquest, with the object of extending its sway over an indefinite area of north China.

While the Japanese are taking the tables of their military machine is moving into the heart of Asia as the hordes of Genghis Khan swept into the same territory from the other direction.

Forty Years Ago

From the Files of the Edmonton Bulletin

Prof. Ned Parker, the celebrated Pacific penman, who visited Edmonton last summer, has filed $100 in his safe in Winnipeg for infliction of the anti-slavery law.

The annual Police Ball will be held at Fort Saskatchewan on Friday evening.

G. F. Pearce of Agincourt has been appointed Government immigration agent in Idaho and Washington.

The last of the machinery for the mill of the Edmonton Milling Co. arrived last week, and grinding will begin shortly.

Eight cars of coal have been shipped to Calgary this week, and are en route to the smelter.

The telegraph line went down between Edmonton and Red Deer on Saturday. When the wire goes down it remains down until the train comes along, when it is repaired by the trainmen.

The train that left Edmonton on Friday last started from Calgary for Macleod on Saturday, got stuck in a snow bank and did not get to Macleod until Monday afternoon.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Telegraphic—Bloody British and German vessels took Venezuelan ships from the harbor of Puerto Cabello.

The aged King of Saxony is reported dying. Hon. Clifford Sifton has left on a tour of immigration agencies in the United States.

The veterans of Indian mutiny held an anniversary meeting at the Delhi Durbar.

Hon. A. L. Sifton has been appointed chief justice of the Territories.

Dawson was visited by a $50,000 fire.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

The Provincial Government last year expended $30,000 on roads and bridges.

On the Pacific and Peace River railway company is applying to parliament for an extension of time.

Lordosis—The Balkan allies have presented Turkey with an ultimatum and threaten to break off relations if Turkey does not consent to the sending of Adm. G. G. C. Webster, the president of the Canadian Historical Association. Webster's mother was Henrietta Dawson was visited by a $50,000 fire.

James Wolfe was elected a member of the Board of Trade at the first meeting of that body on Thursday.

Ottawa—The Dominion Government has appointed a committee to consider the formation of the Salvation Army in the territories of Canada.

Calgary—The special committee of the city council decided to adopt the single tax system.

Four fountains have been laid for a $30,000 hotel at Wabamun.

TEN YEARS AGO

Mr. E. T. Bishop was elected chairman of the Edmonton Public School Board at the first meeting of that body on Thursday.

Ottawa—The Dominion Government has appointed a committee to consider the formation of the Salvation Army in the territories of Canada.

Calgary—The special committee of the city council decided to adopt the single tax system.

Four fountains have been laid for a $30,000 hotel at Wabamun.

Poems That Live

"SCORN NOT THE SONNET" —Shakespeare

Scorn not the Sonnet; Critic, you have frequenly Mindless of its just honor; with this key Shakespeare unlocked his heart; the melody

Of that small gate gave ease to Petrarch's song.

A thousand times this pipe did Tasso sound; With Camonos soothed on exile's grief;

And the cypress with which Dunciad crowned

Evil-smelling brats a glow-worm lamp.

It cheered mild Spider, called from Faery-land.

To struggle through dark ways; and, when a

Fell from the path of Milton, in his hand

The Tiding became a trumpet whence he blew

Soul-wringing strains—glaz too!

—William Wordsworth (1770-1850)

THE LUMBER DISPUTE

The people of Great Britain who buy lumber and have to pay for it were up in arms against the supply that they would have to pay an additional price for the import of timber and wood products.

Relations claimed have been written down to a nominal minimum, on condition that they may be checked off the bill.

International debts, armament cost, and the creation of a currency within the reach of all peoples, are problems that still to be attacked and solved.

Historically the first step to be adopted by the latter not even talked about officially.

It is time that proposed international conference was put definitely on the calendar. It might accomplish more than there is at present in anything in the direction of an agreement established by international agreement reached in conference.

If progress in unearthing the factors that produce the depression is to be as slow as progress has been in the direction of an agreed date, the sooner the first conference is held the better the chance that people now living may see the end of the universal dead-lock.

A SPRING CAMPAIGN

From the distance the undulating snows of Shanhaikwan look like a landscape of coal ash upon Shanghai: an act of sheer aggression for which there is no justification.

The incident is only understandable as a step in the Japanese conquest of north China.

"Let the peace of God rule in your hearts." —Col. 3:13.

Tomorrow's text will be selected by Rev. C. J. Stanton, United Church, Innisfail.

SIDE GLANCES - By George Clark

"They ain't interested in art. They're just watchin' to see if we'll fill up the scallop."

Fragments of History

—By Fred

JAMES WOLFE

On January 2nd in 1757, James Wolfe, the hero-victor of the battle of Quebec, was born at Westerham, Kent. As a matter of fact, the real date of his birth was December 28, 1732 (O.S.).

The original style took place in 1757, by which eleven days were dispensed with and the year made to begin with January 1. Instead of December 28, 1732 (O.S.), he came January 2, 1737 (N.S.) and this is the date which is now always observed.

Wolfe was born at Westerham, Kent, on December 28, 1732 (O.S.), which would be January 2, 1737 (N.S.).

Wolfe's mother was Henrietta, daughter of Edward Thompson of Marston. She was married to Colonel Edward Wolfe in 1754. The couple had nine children. Wolfe's grandfather was a blacksmith and his father a tanner.

Wolfe's mother died when he was only two years old, and he was brought up by his father, who was a tanner.

Wolfe once made an effort to claim Wolfe as Irish-born. Like many others of our great soldiers, Wolfe was born in Ireland, but he was born in England and based on the fact that his mother was an Englishwoman.

Wolfe once made an effort to claim Wolfe as Irish-born. Like many others of our great soldiers, Wolfe was born in Ireland, but he was born in England and based on the fact that his mother was an Englishwoman.

Wolfe's mother died when he was only two years old, and he was brought up by his father, who was a tanner.

Wolfe's mother died when he was only two years old, and he was brought up by his father, who was a tanner.

Wolfe's mother died when he was only two years old, and he was brought up by his father, who was a tanner.

Wolfe's mother died when he was only two years old, and he was brought up by his father, who was a tanner.

Wolfe's mother died when he was only two years old, and he was brought up by his father, who was a tanner.

Wolfe's mother died when he was only two years old, and he was brought up by his father, who was a tanner.

Wolfe's mother died when he was only two years old, and he was brought up by his father, who was a tanner.

Wolfe's mother died when he was only two years old, and he was brought up by his father, who was a tanner.

Wolfe's mother died when he was only two years old, and he was brought up by his father, who was a tanner.

Wolfe's mother died when he was only two years old, and he was brought up by his father, who was a tanner.

Wolfe's mother died when he was only two years old, and he was brought up by his father, who was a tanner.

Wolfe's mother died when he was only two years old, and he was brought up by his father, who was a tanner.

The Passing Show

—By J. S. Coupe

While half mankind was waiting helplessly for the economic system to crash in the hope that Technocracy or some other system will come to pass to distribute employment and goods more equitably than our present collapsed method, it is pleasing to record what a woman in our midst has done. A letter from Ohio tells me that Mrs. Helene Midland, formerly of Regent and Verwood, Saskatchewan, is hopeful of establishing a large chin pottery plant in the United States in the near future. It will be the first plant in Canada to make chinaware. Already, within the last few weeks, 400,000 pieces of chinaware have been produced under Mrs. Midland's supervision in potters in Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Midland have their potters making in lanes for bones and bottles, the marks of oppression still upon him and his vocabulary almost as scant of English as the day he was born, a refugee from France.

Health and Diet Advice

—By Dr. Frank McCoy

Dr. McCoy's menu suggested for the week beginning Sunday, January 8, 1933.

STEAMED prunes: Lunch: Potato on the half shell; Spinach: Salad of fresh lettuce; Dinner: Baked chicken with shredded wheat biscuit dressing; butter parsnips; Cooked lettuce; ice cream.

MONDAY—Breakfast: Baked cereal; whole wheat muffins with peanut butter; Apple sauce; maple syrup; Lunch: Oyster platter; Lettuce salad; dinner: Roast pork; Baked beans; Salad of grated carrots; Peas; Sweet potatoes.

TUESDAY—Breakfast: Crisp bacon, Well-cooked eggs with small onions; dinner: Whole wheat muffins with peanut butter; Apple sauce; Fresh fruit all day; dessert: Oatmeal; Lunch: Lettuce salad; dinner: Roast chicken with vegetables.

WEDNESDAY—Breakfast: Whole wheat muffins with peanut butter; Apple sauce; Fresh fruit all day; dessert: Oatmeal; Lunch: Lettuce salad; dinner: Roast chicken with vegetables.

THURSDAY—Breakfast: Whole wheat muffins with peanut butter; Apple sauce; Fresh fruit all day; dessert: Oatmeal; Lunch: Lettuce salad; dinner: Roast chicken with vegetables.

FRIDAY—Breakfast: Whole wheat muffins with peanut butter; Apple sauce; Fresh fruit all day; dessert: Oatmeal; Lunch: Lettuce salad; dinner: Roast chicken with vegetables.

SATURDAY—Breakfast: Broiled ham; Coddled eggs; Melba toast; Apple juice; Lunch: Lettuce salad; dinner: Oatmeal; dessert: Oatmeal; Lunch: Lettuce salad; dinner: Roast chicken with vegetables.

CUTTIES—In CASSEROLE: Broiled ham; Coddled eggs; Melba toast; Lettuce salad; dinner: Roast chicken with vegetables.

CUTTIES—In a casserole: Whole wheat muffins with the other vegetables and fill casserole. Add a small amount of water, cover and bake thirty minutes. This makes a nice, light vegetable "casserole." Vegetable casserole (see recipe).

CUTTIES—In a casserole: Whole wheat muffins with the other vegetables and fill casserole. Add a small amount of water, cover and bake thirty minutes. This makes a nice, light vegetable "casserole." Vegetable casserole (see recipe).

CUTTIES—In a casserole: Whole wheat muffins with the other vegetables and fill casserole. Add a small amount of water, cover and bake thirty minutes. This makes a nice, light vegetable "casserole." Vegetable casserole (see recipe).

CUTTIES—In a casserole: Whole wheat muffins with the other vegetables and fill casserole. Add a small amount of water, cover and bake thirty minutes. This makes a nice, light vegetable "casserole." Vegetable casserole (see recipe).

CUTTIES—In a casserole: Whole wheat muffins with the other vegetables and fill casserole. Add a small amount of water, cover and bake thirty minutes. This makes a nice, light vegetable "casserole." Vegetable casserole (see recipe).

CUTTIES—In a casserole: Whole wheat muffins with the other vegetables and fill casserole. Add a small amount of water, cover and bake thirty minutes. This makes a nice, light vegetable "casserole." Vegetable casserole (see recipe).

CUTTIES—In a casserole: Whole wheat muffins with the other vegetables and fill casserole. Add a small amount of water, cover and bake thirty minutes. This makes a nice, light vegetable "casserole." Vegetable casserole (see recipe).

CUTTIES—In a casserole: Whole wheat muffins with the other vegetables and fill casserole. Add a small amount of water, cover and bake thirty minutes. This makes a nice, light vegetable "casserole." Vegetable casserole (see recipe).

CUTTIES—In a casserole: Whole wheat muffins with the other vegetables and fill casserole. Add a small amount of water, cover and bake thirty minutes. This makes a nice, light vegetable "casserole." Vegetable casserole (see recipe).

CUTTIES—In a casserole: Whole wheat muffins with the other vegetables and fill casserole. Add a small amount of water, cover and bake thirty minutes. This makes a nice, light vegetable "casserole." Vegetable casserole (see recipe).

CUTTIES—In a casserole: Whole wheat muffins with the other vegetables and fill casserole. Add a small amount of water, cover and bake thirty minutes. This makes a nice, light vegetable "casserole." Vegetable casserole (see recipe).

CUTTIES—In a casserole: Whole wheat muffins with the other vegetables and fill casserole. Add a small amount of water, cover and bake thirty minutes. This makes a nice, light vegetable "casserole." Vegetable casserole (see recipe).

CUTTIES—In a casserole: Whole wheat muffins with the other vegetables and fill casserole. Add a small amount of water, cover and bake thirty minutes. This makes a nice, light vegetable "casserole." Vegetable casserole (see recipe).

CUTTIES—In a casserole: Whole wheat muffins with the other vegetables and fill casserole. Add a small amount of water, cover and bake thirty minutes. This makes

CUNARD ENVOY GIVES PRAISES FOR FINE PORT

Endorses Work Carried on at St. John for Future Grain

"SAINT JOHN, N.B., Jan. 6.—The president of Mayor Ralph H. Webb's winning that within a year every bushel of Canadian grain and every pound of Canadian commodity that is exported would move through Canadian ports was endorsed here Thursday by R. W. Bennett, the Canadian director of the Canadian Liner Line. He spoke at luncheon aboard the S.S. Aurania, marking the inauguration of the Canadian liner line's first trans-Atlantic winter service to the port of Saint John.

Comments on the rebuilding of port facilities here after the disastrous fire June, 1932. Mr. Refford said: "We of the Canadian port of Saint John are in a better position now than in any port in Canada, with more grain berths and up-to-date port facilities."

"We must give Mr. Bennett our Prime Minister's greatest credit," said Mr. Refford. "We of the Canadian line are very much in the confidence of the Canadian government and we are expecting from the conference such results as will warrant the further development of the energies of the Canadian line in the Canadian trade ever before."

He Surely Started A Word Fight

Today

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright 1932)

Johnson was dragged down from the throne stem by other farmers.

He had not been in office for less than the percentage leaving Farmer Johnson still in debt.

At the moment the mortgaged farm belt is not gay.

M. H. ANTHONY BREWSTER, head of National Broadcasting and many other things, as a young lawyer, was fond of reading, particularly a western farce with two mortgages on his farm and one on his house.

When bankers told the farmer he must get out, he burst into tears. One of the bankers put his hand on the shoulder, saying:

"Don't cry, everything will come out all right. You are not the only man am not crying for myself. I am crying when I think of you bankers in the office."

Unrest things improve suddenly; bankers are rolling in it. In many instances, the men in whom the confidence of the guardians, a dozen or more have been flogged by their eyes!

♦ ♦ ♦

MRS. FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT, son of the man who keeps house in the White House, is keeping a book on what women have been doing in the past and what more they have to do in the future.

To tell adequately about the past would be to write a book. But the future is of course important.

Fifty thousand million years hence, when man labor becomes unnecessary, nothing harder to do than to keep house on the shoulder, saying:

"Now, wait a minute. I thought you were twice as big as they are now, and men so small that their wives will carry them about in vanity cases."

It has happened in nature.

The most important thing Mrs. Roosevelt tells you is always female. You find the husband under one of her front flippers, about as big as a 16-cent piece.

The government of Prince Edward Island will not transport the grain from the island to the elevators from that province to the World's Grain Show opening at Regina on July 24, 1933.

THE TIMES (Drew by HAL COCHRAN)

you are thinking of what we can do?" asked Duncy. "We can run and jump and play and have fun."

"Now, wait a minute," Freozy said. "A thought had popped into my head. I think I can make sure each one of you that think is nice."

"You Timynes will wait right here. A dogged sled very near and I'm going to get you. Then the real fun's bound to start."

He had run away, but soon return.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

"I'm not old Freozy," he said.

"My name is Freozy. I will find that to good boys I'm very kind. I am one of the rulers of the land of ice and snow."

"Oh, no. You're not rulers we came."

We know that old Freozy was your name. An Eskimo just sent us here," said Scotty, with a grin.

The Timynes can right up to old Freozy. He said, "How do you know who are you, and what are you doing?"

SECOND SECTION

EDMONTON, ALBERTA Alberta's Oldest Newspaper —FRIDAY, JAN. 6, 1933

PAGE 9

ZONING LAW SUMMARIZED FOR COUNCIL

Tanqueray Makes Brief Review on New Zon- ing Regulations

Brief summary of the new zoning bylaw as prepared by the Town Planning Commission was submitted to the City Council by Mr. J. D. Tanqueray, secretary of the commission. This report was compiled at the request of Ald. C. L. Gibbs.

The bylaw makes regulations for the zoning of the city, and such regulations will restrict the height and bulk of buildings, the size of yards, the intervals between buildings, the location and use of industrial buildings, and the size of industrial, residential, and other premises. It also provides, in order that the rights of both the property owner and the public shall be secured, the fullest possible protection that before passing a zoning bylaw, a public hearing for the 1st consideration of the regulations shall be made.

Another hearing will also be made for all those interested to study the bylaw and lodge objections if they so desire. The bylaw will be submitted with the approval of the provincial minister of public works.

With the exception of appeals, all appeals and complaints against the regulations will be heard by a zoning appeal board.

The City Council is the exacting body and the board the administrative body. Council has the power to name a zoning bylaw and the appeal board has not.

Carried over from the previous session, the zoning bylaw will be considered by a zoning appeal board.

In considering and disposing of appeals the zoning appeal board will be compelled to make a finding difficult if not impossible to comply with exact provisions of the zoning bylaw.

The bylaw will prevent unwarranted hardships of injustice and at the same time more fully realize the purpose and intent of the bylaw.

The board may, except as herein provided, make a zoning bylaw in a district where use is forbidden by the bylaw.

C.P.R. Officials To Get Transfer

Closing of the accounting offices of the C.P.R. at Edmonton and Lethbridge and a consolidation of this work at Calgary will result in the transfer of 100 employees from the city on February 1.

C. G. Hamilton, accountant here, is being transferred to Regina while A. Hart, his assistant, will go to Calgary. The 100 employees will also be transferred to other points. Lethbridge accounting offices are being moved to Calgary.

Under the new arrangements all accounts for the main line operating departments of the C.P.R. will be handled through the Calgary offices.

Gleaned From Today's News

Pilot H. H. Kroesen, Canadian Airways, completed a routine air mail flight from McMurray to Fort Vermilion and intermediate points on Thursday.

PREMIER WILL LEAVE JAN. 13 FOR MEETING

Will Attend Dominion- Provincial Conference in Ottawa

Premier J. E. Brownlee stated on Friday that on Jan. 13 he would be in Ottawa to attend the conference called by Premier R. E. Bennett on the proposed scheme for unemployment relief, and it is hoped, other subjects.

Premier Brownlee had not yet received further details concerning the expected agenda, beyond the unemployment insurance. But he is understood the conference will include many other subjects.

In some quarters it is expected that the conference will be reviewed, and that some discussion will take place on the proposed scheme for unemployment relief in providing possible relief for unemployed.

With the exception of appeals to the proposed scheme against the regulations, the conference is bound to take on unusual significance.

Premier Brownlee, one of the cabinet will accompany the premier to Ottawa has not yet been named.

Pending receipt of complete information on the proposed agenda Brownlee has not yet named his representative to attend the annual United Farmers of Alberta convention in Ottawa on Jan. 13. Until he does so, he does not care to name his U.F.A. convention representative.

Educational Plan For Unemployed Men Progressing

On Friday, the Alberta Superintendence, organized to prove that evil omens, good and bad, bring sickness and fear, have done their best, I will be fair and warn you that the All-Butt route is safe.

The All-Butt route is safe. The All-Butt route is safe. The All-Butt route is safe. The All-Butt route is safe.

Now in the light of this information, tell me, are you supposing that the All-Butt route is safe? The All-Butt route is safe. The All-Butt route is safe. The All-Butt route is safe.

Following are the responses received:

RUTH CYRDEYMER, student: "I am the one to go to the bush and a home is formed here. I will be one of the first to join. Charles and I are the ones to go to the bush."

Edgar T. Baker, director of the Alberta Department of the Anti-Superintendence: "I am sure that the public will provide books and magazines, gramophones, records and chess and other diversions."

A central depot for the collection of books and magazines has been provided at the school room of McDowell United Church, 1025 10th Street, where books are to be delivered to make delivery to McDowell Church or leave a call for their materials to be collected.

Executive Council Makes Appointment's

By and with the advice of the executive committee, Hon. H. L. Lethbridge, Governor has made the following appointments, notice of which is contained in the Alberta Gazette:

Supervisor of Co-Operative Education: Kenneth J. Hawkin, Edmonton.

Branch reader: Hector J. Adam, Edmonton.

Justices of the peace: Charles Isaac, Beausejour, Rocky Mountain House, Frank J. K. Kinnear, Edmonton, Edeleus Requer, Donnelly and Alexander Innes, Spirit River.

Stanislav Riviere Que Barri: Fanny Edgerton, W. S. J. McLean, Edmonton, S. J. McLean, S. Call, Vermillion; A. M. McDermott, Fort Vermillion; Joseph Reid, Clyde, W. H. Wilson, Vermillion, Arthur Sunley, Wabamun.

Three Stolen Cars Are Recovered

Three automobiles which were stolen from their parking place on city streets Thursday night were recovered in a different section of Edmonton Friday.

At 1:45 a.m. Friday, the police car was seen driving across 113 Avenue and 81 Street. The man driving the car, 10209 107 street, was stolen about 11:45 p.m. Thursday from near the Alberta Legislature.

The car of F. C. Bunting of the Bank of Toronto building, which was parked in front of the hotel near the Macdonald hotel, was recovered by police who found it abandoned by the thief.

Three other cars were stolen from the Victoria Inn on 107 Street and 127 Avenue. They were recovered from the same section of the city.

MRS. JACK MCCALLUM, hotel manager: "I am disappointed in the police. They have found it difficult to find the thief."

The Victoria Inn, from the P. R. depot about 100 feet across the street, the machine across the river and left it at the south end C. P. R. depot.

B. C. SEED FAIR

The British Columbia Seed Fair, which was to be held in the city, has been postponed to the first week in April.

SATURDAY ONLY
10c

SUNDAY FREE

GROCERIES
7c
7c

WHEAT MEAL
10c

MEAT SAWS
35c

SATURDAY ONLY
10c

ELECTRIC LIGHT
10c

WALL BUTCHERS
25c

MEAT SAW
35c

SAFETY LIGHT
25c

SA

